The 335i/d-Look for the BMW 1 series E82 Coupé and the E88 Convertible

insidePerformance makes it possible

The Tuner insidePerformance, settled in the Hessian Einhausen (Germany), now offers exhaust systems with 335i/d-Design for every BMW 1 series models E82 and E88. Already known and respected for exhaust systems in the 4-pipes M3 Design for each vehicle of the BMW-series (E46 & E90-E93), the main focus of that attractive and specialised company, lies at the high quality and the usability of the exhaust systems and Carbon fiber parts for vehicles produced by BMW, again.

The discreetly-sporty rear view, including exhaust pipes on both sides, was only provided for the E90-E93 models of the successfully but now discontinued BMW 3 series and their top models 335i and 335d. InsidePerformance made a revolution about this issue and presented a 2x1-pipes-exhaust system (right and left) in the 335i/d look for the last BMW 1 series.

Even the BMW 3 series top model of the E82 model, the 135i, not offered those sporty look of the BMW 3 series. For the BMW 1 series E82 (Coupé) and the E88 (Convertible), insidePerformance now developed a stainless-steel sport-exhaust-system, which gives the special vehicle a powerful sound, a discreetly-sporty view and offers exhaust technic in impeccable quality. The sound variations are individually selectable as well! Selectable are two different sound levels: starting with voluminous, athletic, robust and vibrant sound and ending with a martial export-version, the offered sound level is wide and leaves no wish unfulfilled. From an unobtrusive sound up to a startling sound, everything is possible.

Also the at the design of the 335i/d optic oriented exhaust system, offers a weight loss (ca. 50%), an optimised back pressure and increased performance. For a 335i the reachable increased performance lies between 4 and 7 HP. That appropriate increased torque lies circa between 7 and 10 Nm. Both of the 2x90, active tailpipes in a convolute 335i style, provide a powerful sound – the whole installation offers an uniform exhaust gas stream coming out of both, the right and the left, tailpipe. The exhaust system is suitable and optimises manufactured, installed and delivered, for every single engine variant.

The perfect match for the 335i/d look is the rear diffuser made by insidePerformance. Ready for installation on every E82 or E88 model with M-technique rear spoiler, the rear diffuser is perfectly made for demanding costumers and offers a perfect copy of the 335i/d design in combination with the incredible exhaust system. The old rear diffuser is trouble free replaced by the proprietary model. The performance rear diffuser provides a sporty look and is available in either glass-reinforced plastic (GRP) or Carbon fibre.

The unique and accurately sport-exhaust-systems made by insidePerformance, are made of high-grade stainless steel. Based on the smart concept (typical for insidePerformance), no costly modifications are required to install the components of the exhaust-system. Therefore the modification is completely traceable to the original status.

The installation of the exhaust-system could naturally also be taken by insidePerformance. The associated garage and their professional staff give advice and support and have a lot of experiences in the field of professional car-tuning. Due to the simple installation concept, the exhausting-system can also be sent to interested customers. It is approved for installation by professional garages and self-assembly. Installation instructions are available at www.insideperformance.de or on direct demand.

The 335i-design exhaust-system is available for the following BMW E82 and E88 of the BMW 1 series (based on the original conditions, with no trailer hitch): 118d/120d (N47), 123d, 118i/120i (N43), 118i/120i (N46N), 125i (N52N), 128i (USA only N51), 135i (N54) and 135i (N55).

The Company insidePerformance also provides a sound-, optic- and quality satisfaction guarantee for every customer – no purchase risk!

Needless to say, the 335i-look exhausting system is TÜV-tested and approved in the field of German road traffic regulations.
